Spring Conference February 3-4

Mrs. Frank Smith of Statesboro, president-elect and chairman of the convention program, was among the nearly five hundred Georgians who will have a hand in the operation of the state's school lunch rooms which will gather in Atlanta for a two-day session, February 3 and 4. This is a regular spring conference of the Georgia School Food Service Association. This year the talk topic will be "Good Measure."

Three out-of-state speakers will talk to the lunch room people. Martin Garber, director of the Food Distribution Division of the Department of Agriculture, will come from Washington to talk at the opening session Friday afternoon.

Georgia gets about eight million dollars' worth of free time for its 1,775 school lunch rooms from the service that comes under his supervision. Besides the food program, Mr. Garber has supervision of the school lunch and the special milk programs in the Department of Agriculture. Georgia receives four million in federal funds for school lunch and special milk. The state does not only to school lunch rooms, but to hospitals, day camps and other eligible non-profit organizations. Georgia gets more than ten million dollars worth of these free foods altogether. He will speak on "Giving Children a Good Measure."

Mrs. Thelma Flanagan, state supervisor of the Florida school lunch program, will be the banquet speaker on Friday evening. Her topic will be "Measuring Your School Lunch Knowledge."

Mrs. Flanagan is past president of the American School Food Service Association, and is now its legislative chairman in the southeast. Georgia has had a state-wide school lunch program, operated

Flower Show School To Be Feb. 15-16-17

The Creative Study Garden Club of Augusta, Ga., will sponsor the Flower Show School of the National Council of State Garden Clubs, February 15, 16 and 17. Sessions will be held at the Garden Center on Telfair street in Augusta.

These schools, designed particularly for accredited flower judges, are by no means restricted to those seeking credit by taking the examinations that follow the two day course, but is a wonderful opportunity to increase the knowledge of any interested person in flower arranging, horticulture and flower show practice.

Instructors for this school will be Mrs. Francis Hart of Anderson, S. C., on flower arranging; Mrs. W. A. Florence of Greenville, N. C., on the business aspects of flower shows; and Mrs. W. A. Florence of Greenville, N. C., on the business aspects of flower shows. The past year only 10-15000 schools were produced. Sweet potatoes can be a good source of additional income.

Brief remarks were given by representatives who work in the field of health, education, youth and family in Bulloch County. The problems faced and the importance in meeting the challenges of these phases in the community.

Concluding the meeting, Al Gibson, manager of the local Chamber of Commerce, spoke on behalf of the businessmen. He said, "They are aware that farm income plays a big role in Bulloch's economy and want to cooperate to find ways to work together."

Elected to head this new board for the coming year was W. H. Smith, Jr., chairman; John J. Kelly, vice chairman; Ithel Smith, secretary-treasurer; R. P. Mikel is the retiring chairman.

The visiting minister at Bethlehem Primitive Baptist Church, on Friday night, February 3rd at 7:00 o'clock will be Elder C. M. Crawford of Ft. Pierce, Fla.

GSC Literary Magazine

Miscellaneous. The Georgia Southern College literary magazine, made its first appearance of the year on the campus last Friday afternoon for distribution among students and homecoming visitors. This is the fifth issue of the magazine which, in its third year, has been published in the winter of 1957.

The current issue presents a photo cover of a campus scene and contains a number of short stories, articles of criticism, and numerous poems. The magazine features mainly the work of GSC writers.

For the first time, the publication is professionally printed. The four previous issues were published by students in the college's printing department.

Sponsored by the Division of Languages, the magazine is to appear twice each year.

College home economics students will be informed about the Army's Student Dietitian Program, Dietetic Internship, and Dietetic Internship.

College students who will complete academic requirements for a bachelor's degree with satisfaction will be awarded a stipend of $100 a year for the next two years.

Participants in either of these programs are commissioned as second lieutenants after graduation from college and receive the pay and allowances of an Army officer. They will be assigned to various physical therapy and occupational therapy.

Upon completion of the prescribed training and participants are eligible for membership in their respective national professional organizations.

The major will also interview girls interested in attending a six weeks Dietetic Summer Practicum. This program, offered at selected Army hospitals, offers valuable practical experience. Participants must be dietitians with a high character who have completed their junior year. Students receive a monthly stipend of $166 while attending and have no obligation of duty with the military after completion of the Practicum.

Overall standards for admission to these programs require that applicants be unmarried female citizens, age 21-29, and possess high moral, personal and scholastic qualifications. They must meet the physical standards as established by the Department of the Army.

Participants in these programs are to remain in the Army for a period of two years, one year for the professional training—the other year as a staff member in an Army hospital in the United States.

Major Evans will be residing in the Governors Hotel while visiting the Statesboro area.

Self-Control And Happiness

The peace and happiness of the average citizen does not depend upon the amount of money he or she possesses, the number of organizations to which he or she belongs, or the outcome of any great social struggle.

The contentment that makes for human happiness is within the reach of every individual who is able to face life with a philosophy that solves personal problems. The acceptance and practice of religious tenets often provides the answer, whether these religious beliefs are adopted as an individual or as a member of some religious organization.

The capacity of the individual for self-control, however, is the real key to happiness and contentment. It is a product that you cannot buy, or receive as a gift. It is, nevertheless, within the reach of all—but oftentimes, is attained by very few.

The Miracle Of Rain

Although man has made amazing scientific achievements, Nature still puts on the greatest show on earth and exhibits miracles, every day, which put man's best efforts to shame.

Some people fail to recognize the miracles which occur around them every day. For example, take the occurrence of rain, upon which event the hopes of millions of farmers and others are hinged. A farmer, with a hundred acres of planted crops, must have, of all things, a plentiful supply of water. If he receives a rainfall of one inch, which often occurs during the planting season, Nature has dropped 2,714,800 gallons of water on his crops. And Nature can accomplish this in just a few minutes.

Scientists, who attempt to compute the tremendous forces involved in such an operation as a heavy rain, are constantly amazed at the power of Nature and the ease and gentleness which she usually does her job. If the reader will think about it, he too will be constantly amazed at the miracles which take place about him every day, which are accepted as common-place occurrences.

Do You Read-And How?

Can you read? This may seem foolish to you, in view of the fact that you are reading this editorial, but, before answering, let us consider what it means.

An eminent college professor once declared that the American people are more than fifty per cent illiterate in their effective ability to understand adult reading matter. He asserted that half the population is unable to read any printed material above the seventh grade level.

Obviously the educator was telling us that we read carelessly, without comprehending the import of the words we see. We scan the language without appropriating the thoughts and without consciously attempting to absorb the reasonable implications of the words.

Obviously, the nation has millions of citizens who read carelessly, with resulting confusion as to facts, figures, ratios and relationships. The carelessness is apparent in fast and slow readers. It relates to a state of mind rather than to speed in reading.

There are educators in the United States today who assert that education is largely a matter of acquiring the habit of intelligent reading. The columns of a daily newspaper, for example, take on a new significance if one understands the background and implications of events. The same observation applies to reading, in connection with any subject.

We are inclined to agree with the conclusions of the college professor, but there is no occasion for undue excitement. The human race includes many degrees of individuals, with varying interests and degrees of intensity. Consequently, we will always have some good readers, some poor readers, and others utterly unable to comprehend the import of the printed word.

Right Bulls - Wrong Owner Traveling Thru Georgia

In beginning this series of writings, our thought was to go as far back as tangible facts could be established, even though there may have been some imaginative decorations added by those through whose pens the stories passed. The same observation applies to reading, in connection with any subject.

Tales Out of School

By Bernice McCallister
Director of Information, State Department of Education

Look at Georgia!—We do not believe that any other Southern state can even come close to the remarkable record of Georgia in moving its schools toward accreditation. Paul Willis, our statistical director, just this minute has announced that 46-100ths of one per cent of the white high school students of Georgia are in non-accredited schools. Of Georgia's 518 high schools, 442 are accredited. Of those accredited, 286 are accredited by BOTH the Southern Association and the Georgia Accrediting Commission, 186 are accredited by the Georgia Commission only. Only eight of our 337 white schools lack accreditation and only 66 of our 179 Negro schools lack accreditation.

Did you know... that many first graders in the nation are now studying algebra and foreign languages? Sounds incredible but it is true, and they are not just the bright ones. Average classes are learning and loving it. Many experts think that we underestimate the ability of our children to get excited about learning when it is brought to them by creative and competent teachers.

Did you ask this question?—We have queries asking why there is a $1,000 raise for teachers when they move from the fifth year certificate to the sixth and only a $400 raise when they move from the fourth year to the fifth. The situation is this: those who are not graduates and the salary was never meant to be comparable. (Green) liked the idea so much that they offered another $600 raise to their educators who have achieved it. If you have sixth year certificate holders, your system, honor them. They are the bright, brave people who are carrying their own minds as they can inspire and teach and counsel your youngsters in the most successful manner. Honors for them! The sixth year certificate is not just like another of the foundation stones of a cathedral. It is the tower and steeple of the building that the world looks upon with admiration and awe.

ANNOUNCE ENGAGEMENT
Mr. and Mrs. W. Ray Houshield, Jr., of Asheville, North Carolina, announce the engagement of their daughter, Jerrie Katherine to Mr. Albert Sydney Dodd, III, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Dodd, Jr., of Statesboro.

The bride-elect graduated from Asheville High School, Columbia, S. C., and attended the University of South Carolina. She was a member of the Alpha Delta Phi sorority. At present she is employed in Asheville, N. C.

BRIDGE LUNCHEON
Thursday Mrs. Horace Smith was hostess at a four course bridge luncheon at her Savannah home. A beautiful permanent dried arrangement was used in her living room and the dining table, overlaid with an imported cloth, held a central arrangement of pink and green.

Bridge was enjoyed with high score being won by Mr. Willis Cohen, an Asheville resident, and Mrs. Arnold Anderson for cut, received a necklace and for low, an ash tray was her gift to Mrs. Dew Groover.

Guests for three tables were invited.
DOGWOOD GARDEN CLUB
The Dogwood Garden Club met on Wednesday, February 1st at the Statesboro Primitive Baptist Church. This was a week shop meeting, with each member bringing material for dried arrangements with Mrs. L. E. Mallard presiding. Kappa honorary fraternities.

LA Dodd is presently stationed at Reese Air Force Base, Lubbock, Texas with the 360th Pilot Wing (ATC) United States Air Force. A February 25th wedding is planned at Air Base Wing Chapel.

SERIES OF BRIDGE PARTIES
Beginning a series of delightful bridge parties Thursday afternoon Mrs. Imma Decker, Mrs. Aubrey Brannen, Mrs. DeWane Watson and Mrs. H. L. Brannen were hostesses at the lovely deck home on Deonah. The Valentine idea was carried out in decorations, tallies and refreshments. As you entered the foyer was an exquisite arrangement of red gladioli. In the living room was a dried arrangement and twin arrangements of beautiful yellow daffodils were used at each end of the antique sofa.

On each individual table were little Valentine baskets filled with mints. A salad plate with toasted pecans and coffee was served.

For high score, Mrs. Henry Appel was the magnetic litch, and Mrs. Jimmy Blitch won low, received a lovely bag for cut. Mrs. Jimmy Morris was given a Japanese plate with hold-ers and floating prize, a pin cushion, was the gift to Mrs. Lawrence Mallard.

Guests for thirteen tables were invited.
Friday morning these hostesses entertained at twelve tables. At this party, high score went to Mrs. Harvey Brannen, winning the magnetic bulletin board, low the hostess bag, went to Mrs. F. W. Darby; cut to Mrs. E. N. Brown, the Japanese plate with holders and floating to Mrs. Harry Conner, the pin cushion.

Friday afternoon guests for twelve tables were invited with high score being won by Mrs. Leo del Coleman, Mrs. Dew Groover, low, Mrs. Al Gibson, cut and Mrs. Ann Evans Johnson floating. The gifts were the same at each party. Mrs. H. F. Hook was winner of high score at Canasta.

EVERGREEN GARDEN CLUB
The Evergreen Garden Club met on last Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Eddie Rushing with Mrs. Jerry McGlamery co-hostess.

On arrival the members were served caramel cake, toasted pecans and coffee.

Mrs. Joe Neville, president, presided. Mrs. Carroll Herington reported on the spring flower show.

BRIDGE LUNCHEON
Thursday evening Mrs. Charles Hollar entertained the Double Four Bridge Club at her Donaldson street home where she used attractive dried arrangements in decorating.

A desert course with coffee was served.
When score were tallied, high went to Mrs. Tom Smith and second high to Mrs. Cohen Anderson, both receiving dainty party gifts.

MISS GRACE GRAY
February 8th, The home was attractively decorated with carnations, narcissi and African violets. The menu consisted of chilled tomato juice, baked ham with apple rings, snap bean casserole, potatoes au gratin, peas and bean combination, line fruit marmalade, french bread, tea and lemon chiffon pie for dessert with whipped cream.

Margie was presented a modern ash tray by her hostess.
Guests included the honoree, Miss Margie Boyd, Mrs. Irvin Brannen, Jr., Mrs. Edward Hayman, Mrs. Kenneth Bennett, Mrs. Jackie Hart, Miss Carolyn Deal and Miss Sherriann Brown.

Margie was chic, wearing an emerald green wool sheath featuring satin cummerbund.

BOYD-BIRD VOWS
Miss Margie Boyd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. K. D. Boyd, was married to Jerry Carlton Bird, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Bird, on Sunday afternoon, February 5th at three o'clock, at the home of the bride's parents, 110 West Jones avenue.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. J. Robert Smith.
The home decorations presented a lovely scene. White gladioli and white chrysanthemums formed the background. The couple stood in front of the fire place and on the mantel was an exquisite arrangement of red carnations and white gladioli.

The bride entering the living room with her father, by whom she was given in marriage, was lovely in the white length wedding gown which had previously been worn by her older sister, Kathleen. The tight fitted bodice of Chantilly lace featured a V-neckline, snap bean casserole, potatoes au gratin, peas and bean combination, line fruit marmalade, french bread, tea and lemon chiffon pie for dessert with whipped cream.

Soil - Water Conservation

By E. T. ("Red") Mullis

For almost ten years I have been trying to get our cooperators to understand the importance of soil conservation. The first step in this is to get the drainage water out of the soil. The second and third grades need the attention of the time they are in school.

At the close of the program, the president, James Hood, presided over a short business meeting. The second and third grades need the attention of the time they are in school.

BULLOCH TIMES

Thursday, February 9, 1961

Living class at Southeast Bulloch High School are enrolled in Child Care which is taught by Mrs. Jewel Owens, a Bulloch County Public Health Nurse. Mrs. Owens is teaching the girls the fundamentals of caring for a small child such as how to hold the child properly, bathe him, prepare his formula, sterilize his bottles, the proper foods to feed him and how to arrange his schedules so they will go along with the rest of the family's activities.

The girls are enthusiastic about the course, according to the teacher. Those who will receive Red Cross Certificates in Mother and Child Care are Linda Smith, Louise Martin, Janie Brown, Clara Oliver, Carol Goode, Nell Baker, Evelyn Hagan, Pearlina Bacon, and were never down again. Jackie Smith paced the winners with his 19 point offensive effort. Ross Kelly was second high scorer for the winners with six points, followed by Harry Brunson with two points. Johnny Vickery and Jerry Coleman each collected two for the victors.

For the Pilots Lamar Bagby and Kenny Waters tied for the lead position with 9 points each. Larry

FARM BUREAU MEETS

The February meeting of the Farm Bureau, that was held last Wednesday night in the Community house, was attended by a large group of interested farmers and several ladies of the Auxiliary.

A barbecue supper was served by the social committee, Raymond Potts, chairman, assisted by John F. Spence, W. E. Gear, Ben Grady Buis and Lehman McElven.

The president, Raymond Potts, presided at the meeting. The guest speakers were Roy Kelly of Statesboro, Ivy Wynn and Johnny Hinnett, who discussed "The Caring Plant for Sweet Potatoes," stressing the point that more publicity should be given to the low per cent of the county's dollar which farmers are getting. W. W. Mann and J. T. Whitaker were appointed a committee to get more publicity in this matter.

Miss Henrietta Hall and F. A. Atkins were named on the public relations committee.

The March program will be arranged by W. K. Clifton, Bennie Conner and Jerry Kennedy.

dreamer with his feet on the ground

AS A YOUTH he was called a dreamer, but Thomas Alva Edison turned his dreams into realities that changed the world. It is fitting that February 11, the 114th anniversary of his birth, is celebrated as Science Youth Day.

Edison's story is an American story. At the age of 10 he was busy in his chemical laboratory in the cellar of his modest home. In his early teens he sold newspapers and candy on a train, owned a news stand, a vegetable stand, published a newspaper.

He launched 100 businesses of his own. He not only invented the electric lamp, but he built a factory to make the lamps and he generating station to put them to use. He invented the phonograph, motion picture camera, fluoroscope, first fluorescent lamp. He improved the telegraph and the telephone. He smoothed the way for radio, radar, television and other miracles of electronics.

It is important for American youth to remember Edison and to cherish the way of life that provided incentive for his efforts and full scope for his genius.
